Projects

Player Profile API Website - League of Legends (Active Project)

Using Riot Games' public API, this website searches for a given name and returns their player profile and details (Level, icon, masteries, etc).

- When the page is rendered the useEffect hook requests the JSON data, stores the information to the useState hook, then prepares to compare it to the given search string.
- Using React as the client side and Node as the server side,

Created with React and Node and is actively being updated.

Gaming Website - Omok.io - Passion Project

A website used for an MMORPG game. Keeps track of timers, special events, and other training areas.

- A resource website created for an MMORPG called MapleStory. This website was created to maximize efficiency for progression within the game by storing crucial data in one location.
- Fetching data and hosting it in a convenient and accessible location has increased progression speed by up to 45%. (Numbers compared during speed runs)
- Created as a free resource to support the community, it has received positive feedback and support. With plans to incorporate ideas from other members of the community, there will be more features implemented.

Created with React, React Libraries, and React Hooks.
